

Installation of several Seguro bike racks at the Rogoredo station in Milan.

The city of Milan has launched its ChallengeMyCity initiative, which is part of the project co-financed by EIT Urban Mobility, an organisation of the European Union, and supported by the City of Milan. This consists in the implementation of parking and charging areas for micromobility in the train stations of Milan. The pilot project starts from Milan Rogoredo, where three Seguro bike racks by BENITO have been installed.

According to the Milan City Councillor for Mobility, Arianna Censi, "Offering Milanese the possibility of leaving their green vehicle, and being able to recharge it if necessary [...] allows them to more easily opt for public transport", thus contributing to reduce the environmental impact of the metropolis.

The constant improvement and evolution of our products may result in some modifications of the technical specifications and characteristics of the products without prior notice.

The constant improvement and evolution of our products may result in some modifications of the technical specifications and characteristics of the products without prior notice.